GOOD MEDICINES.
It is estimated that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and Cathartic Pills have done more to promote the public health, than any other cause. There can be no question that the Cherry Pectoral has by its thousands on thousands of cases of Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, &c., very much reduced the proportion of deaths from consumptive diseases in this country. The Pills are as good as the Pectoral, and will cure more lungs.

Every body needs more or less purging. Purge the blood from its impurities. Purge the Bowels, Liver and the whole system, from obstruction. Purge out the poisons which fasten on the body to work their deadly. But for disease we should die only of old age. Take antiscorbutic early and thrust it from the system before it is too strong to yield. Ayer's Pills do thrust out disease, not only while it is weak but when it has taken a strong hold. Read the astounding statements of those who have been cured by them from dreads of Rheumatism, Dropsy, Erysipelas, Skin Diseases, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Internal Pains, Bilious Complaints, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and many less dangerous but still threatening ailments, such as eczema on the face, Worms, nervous irritability, loss of appetite, irregularities, Dizziness in the head, Colic, Fevers, Dysentery, and indeed every variety of complaints for which a Purgative Remedy is required.

These are no random statements, but are authenticated by your own neighbors and your own Physicians. They are not to be despised, and you will never regret them. Price 25 cents per box—6 boxes for $1 00.

At length, as they thus advanced step by step, very slowly, Kagra made a spring. His former victories had probably made him a little self-confident. He sprang, not as if it were a voluntary effort of his own, but as if he were suddenly impelled aloft by some uncontrollable galvanic force which he could not resist. The springing was so sudden, so rapid, so impetuous, that it left quite the appearance of being involuntary. The Terai-wallah was not unprepared. As rapidly as Kagra hurled himself up into the air, he rapidly did he jump aside; but movements seemed to be simultaneous, so admirably were they executed. Kagra alighted, foiled; but before he could recover himself, before he could have assured himself that he was foiled, the Terai-wallah was upon him. The claws of his adversary were fixed firmly in his neck, and the horrid jaws were already grating near his throat. It was the work of a moment. We could scarcely see that the Terai-wallah had gained the advantage—we could scarcely distinguish his huge fore-paws grasping the neck, and his open mouth plunged at the throat—when Kagra made a bold spring, a bound in which he evidently concentrated all his energy. The Terai-wallah was dragged with him a little, the claws that had been dug into his neck were torn gratingly through it; the open mouth snapped fiercely but harmlessly at the advancing shoulder, and Kagra was free.

It was but an instant that the two tigers stood surveying each other, open-mouthed, after Kagra had shaken off the grip of his antagonist. With discomfited jaws—the animal in which he evidently concentrated all his energy. The Terai-wallah was dragged with him a little, the claws that had been dug into his neck were torn gratingly through it; the open mouth snapped fiercely but harmlessly at the advancing shoulder, and Kagra was free.
